AN IMPORTANT DECISION OF THE SUPREME COURT IN THE CASE OF THE UNIVERSITY VS. MCIVER-JUDGE BYNUM'S OPINION.—In case of the State University vs. Alex McIver, Chief-Justice Pearson and Associate-Justice Bynum rendered opinions on Monday. The following

opinions on Monday. The following is the opinion of Associate-Justice Bynum. To-morrow we will publish the opinion of the Chief-Justice:

Trustees of the University vs. Mc-Iver.—The provision of the Constitution, before the amendment now to be construed, was as follows; "The Board of Education shall elect Trustees of the University as follows: One for each County in the State, whose term of omice shall be eight years."

Art. 9 Sec. 13. The amendment to the Constitution strikes out section 13, and substitutes the following: "The and substitutes the following: "Th General Assembly shall have power to provide for the election of Trustees of the University, etc." After this amendement was adopted and declared to be a part of the Constitution, the General Assembly passed an Act, in these words: "The General Assembly passed and the General Assembly passed and sembly of North Carolina do enact. In pursuance of the authority granted by the 5th Sec. of the 9th Art. of the amended Constitution, that there shall be sixty-four Trustees of the University of North Carolina elected by joint ballot of both Houses of the General Assembly, on the 29th day of January, 1874, whose term of office shall be eight years, etc." In pursuance of this Act, Trustees were elected, who bring this action for the corporate property of the University.

Two questions are made, 1st was this amendment duly ratified, so as to become a part of the Constitution, and 2d, supposing the amendment to have been duly ratified, was the election of Trustees in conformity therewith.

The Constitution provides two modes for its amendment, one by Convention to be called by the General Assembly, and the other provision is as follows: "No part of the Constitution of this State shall be altered unless a bill to alter the same shall have been read three times in each House of the General Assembly and agreed to by three-fifths of th whole number of members of each House respectively; nor shall any alteration take place, until the bill so agreed to, shall have been published six months previous to a new election of members to the General Assembly. If after such publication, the altera-tion proposed by the preceding Gen-eral Assembly shall be agreed to, in the first session thereafter, by two thirds of the whole representation in each House of the General Assembly, after the same shall have been read three times on three several days in each House, then the said General Assembly shall prescribe a mode by which the amendment or amend-ments may be submitted to the qualified voters for members of the House of Representatives, throughout the State; and if upon comparing the votes given in the whole State, it shall appear that the majority of the thereon, have approved thereof, then, and not otherwise, the same shall become a part of the Constitution. Art 13 Sec. 9.

Under this provision, a bill was duly passed by our General Assem-bly, which contained seventeen amendments, including therein the one in relation to the University After a new election, the next General Assembly rejected nine and adopted eight of these amendments, which had all been previously incorporated and adopted in one bill, but incorporated each of the nine amendments in a separate bill, and in that form submitted them to the vote of the people, who approved of each amendment by a majority of nearly forty thousand votes. It is insisted that these amendment were not constitutionally adopted and are therefore invalid. The argutemplated and required that the same bill and the same amendments, without change, should have the approval of each General Assembly, and that it by no means followed because the second General Assembly adopted separately eight out of seventeen amendments adopted by the first General Assembly, that it would have adopted the seventeen or any of them, if they had been voted upon by the second body, in the form adopted by the first body. And it is urged that the second General Assembly, in fact, did reject them in that form, and only adopted eight of them, and templated and required that the same and only adopted eight of them, and that only after shaping them into that only after shaping them into eight separate bills. And that conversely, it does not follow because the second General Assembly adopted eight of the amendments in eight separate bills, the first General Assembly would have so adopted them or any of them, for that some one or more of the amendments rejected by the second General Assembly might the second General Assembly might have been the inducing cause of the adoption of the seventeen as a whole, by the first General Assembly. And rence of two Legislatures upon the same amendments, according to the words and spirit of the Corst tution. Constitutions lay down general propositions, and do not deal in details, leaving these to be worked out by the Legislature. If it can be shown that these amendments or any of them, have not been made in accordance with the rules prescribed by the fundamental law, every princi-ple of public law and sound policy requires the Court to pronounce against them. But this cannot be shown. They have been adopted in accordance with the language of the Con-stitution, because each amendment has passed through all the forms of legislative enactment prescribed by that instrument. They do not violate the spirit of the Constitution in the manner of their adop ion, for al-though they finally assumed the shape of eight separate bills, they are yet the eight identically amend-ments adopted by the first Legislature, and it cannot be shown why the amendments adopted in eight bills would not have been as valid in

There is nothing in our law which requires, as in some States, that each subject matter of legislation shall be put in a separate bill. These amendments are therefore just as valid in one bill as in the eight bills, and it appears change was a matter of superrorogation, more calculated to raise doubts than to solve them. But the amendments do not derive their force from the Legislatures which devised them, but from the people who ratified them, and in this case they have spoken with no uncertain sound. Had a convention framed these amendments, it unquestionably would have had the power to submit them to the people as one act or several. The power of the General Assembly cannot be distinguished from the powers of a Convention upon the question of submitting its amendments to popular vote. When the voice of the people is Constitu the voice of the people is Constitu-tionally expressed in their power, the amendments become and are apart of the fundamental law.

At the last term all the members of the Court then present, concurred in the opinion that the amendments to the constitution were duly ratified, and it was so publicly announced from the Bench, on the argument. The opinion was not then filed, be-cause the Chief Justice was absent by reason of sickness, and it is always desirable to have a full Court on Constitutional questions, and because it was doubted by some of the Court whether the action of the Legislature, in electing trustees of the University, was in conformity to the onstitution as amended.

The provision of the constitution, as amended, is that "The General Assembly shall have power to provide for the election of Trustees of the University, &c." Accordingly, that body did enact as follows: "The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact, in pursuance of the authority granted by the fifth section of the ninth article of the constitution, that there shall be sixty-four Trusthat there shall be sixty-four frus-tees of the University of North Caro-lina elected by joint ballot of both Houses of the General Assembly, &c." Looking at this act of the Legislature by itself, without refer-ence to the constitution, there can be but one construction on the constitution. but one construction put upon it, and that is it does 'provide for the elec-tion of Trustees of the University." It is, however, objected and is a literal compliance with that provision of the constitution as amended that it was not the meaning of the constitution, that the body to "provide for the election" should have the power to make the election. Why not? The constitution does not forbid it, nor does it designate any electoral body by which the election is to be made. In conferring upon the General Assembly the power to provide for the election of Trustees, the whole power of the constitution upon the subject was exhausted, and the Legislature became clothed with the Supreme power, unless it may be limited by other parts of the constitution It is no argument to urge that it was in-delicate for the same body which provided for the election of Trustees, afterwards to proceed itself to make the election; for it is a question of power and not one of etiquete in its innumerable examples in the politi-cal history of this country, where both constitutional and legislative bodies, have first created offices and of the members of the very bodies which created the offices. This is Suppose a merchant in Raleigh should direct his agent in New York "to provide for" the shipment of a cargoof cotton to Liverpool." Would it be less a compliance with the order, because the agent himself furnished the shipping instead of hiring it from others? When the constitution or an individual, authorizes a thing to doing it is left to the agent.

There is not only nothing in this article of the Constitution, forbidding the Legislature to elect Trustees, but there is no reason which makes such election inconsistent with the spirit of the instrument. What was the evil this amendment of the Constitution was intended to remedy? Prior to the amendment, the (onstitution provided that the Trustees should be elected by the Board of Education, and the Legislature had but a limi-ted control of the University, and under that system or from other causes, the University had languished, and had finally suspended operations. But under the old Constitution, in force prior to the war. he Trustees were elected by the Legislature and the Institution was under its control, and in that e pacity, had flourished, and was regarded by its friends as the pride and orna-ment of the State. Now the purpose of the amendment under discussion, avowedly was, and the public debates resulting in this amendment, show beyond cavil, that its purpose was to restore the University to the sar form of government which existed under the old Constitution, and which, it was believed by its advocates, would restore that school of earning to its former prosperity and reputation. Accordingly, we find that the very Legislative body which dopted this amendment and was consonant with its meaning, immeliately upon its ratification passed the act we are now construing, and provided therein for the election of Trustees as they were elected before the war. Thus, the very Legislative body which drafted the Constitutional amendment, gave a Legisla-tive construction of the meaning of its terms. This interpretation, therefore, is entitled to peculiar respect, Lewis' case, 29. Penn 578, Brightly on Elections, 667, 677-8, and cases in note exparte Dodd, 6 Eng. 152, Ogden vs.

Sanders 12, Wheat 299, Cooly 69, Story But the objection is made that sec. 10, art. 3, of the Constitution, prohibits the Legislature from making this election. That section is in these words: "The Governor shall nominate and by and with the advice and consent of a majority of the Senators elect. appoint all officers whose offices are so established by this Constitution, or which shall be that it prohibits the election, by the General Assembly, only of "those officers where appointments are not otherwise provided for," but where their appointment is otherwise provided for, in the constitution, that mode, whatever it may be or by whatever electoral body, is as valid as any other, expressly prescribed in whatever electoral body, is as valid as any other, expressly prescribed in that instrument. So, after all, the single enquiry is, what is the proper construction of this amendment of the constitution in relation to the University, uncontrolled by section 10 or any other provision of the constitution. For it will not do to say that section 0 controls the amendment and not the amendment controls section 10. The principles of construction make section 10 subservient to the amendment, if there is an irreconcilable conflict between them. Even where the entire instrument was formed at the same instant them. Even where the entire instru-nient was formed at the same instant of the constitution are irreconcilably repugnant, that which is last in point of time and local position is to be preferred." Cooly 58, note.

If, therefore, there was a real and irreconcilable conflict between the amendment and Sec. 10, or any other part of the Constitution, as for expart of the Constitution, as for expart of the Constitution, as for example, if the amendment had provided, expressly, that "the Legislature shall elect Trustees of the University," by every rule of construction, that provision would control all others, as to that particular class of officers, but it would at the same time leave the prohibitory clause of Sec. 10 in full force in all other cases. If this is not the rule, it would follow hat an amendment engrafted upon the Constitution, although expressly intended to make a change, would fail, if it conflicted with any part of the very instrument it was intended to alter. But there is no conflict between Sec. 10 and the amendment, as effect may be given to both provisions; for the amendment merely qualifies the other provisions of the Constitution by giving the election of these Trustees, only, to the Legislature, leaving the prohibition in Sec. 10 to operate in all the cases therein provided for. To illustrate. Almost every act of incorporation either repeals or suspends some part of the general law of the land, yet the law is not the less operative in all other is not the less operative in all other cases. So also, the amendment is not unlike an exception in a grant.

But it is objected that the amendment only conferred upon the Legislature the power to delegate and not therefore, that the election by that body was void. In reply to this it may be affirmed, if not as an axiom, yet as a safe proposition, that where a body has the power of delegating an authority, without limitations or restrictions, then it has itself the power of doing the thing delegated. It may perform any act it can authorize another to do, upon the simple principle that the less is included in the greater. Rice vs. Packman 16,

Max 26; Cooky 100.

But it is again objected, that in electing the Trustees the Legislature usurped an executive power, which is forbidder by the theory, if not the words of the constitution. Now the ers is not an execu tive, legislative or judicial power, but only a mode of filling the offices creaed by law, whether they belong to one department or the other. The election of a judge is not a judicial pow-er, nor the election of a Governor an executive power, for if so, all elections by the people would be an infringement upon the executive de-partment. The true test is, where does the constitution lodge the power of electing the various public agents of the government, and it is conclusive upon the judicial mind, whether this power is found to be lodged in the one or the other branch, or concurrently in all these departments into which the Supreme authority of the State is divided. The purpose of the constitution was that there should be Trustees of the University, and that they should be elected by the Board of Education. The purpose of the amend-ment is, that they shall no longer be elected by the Board of Education, but in such way as the Legislature may provide, and to that end, unlimited power is vested in that body, as to the number of Trustees, and the mode of election, leaving both to the wisdom and discretion of the Legis-lature. This view is the more apparent, when we compare the ame ment with other parts of the consti-tution. For examples, Scc. 1. Art. 3, provides that the Governor, &c., shall be elected for a term of four years, "by the qualified electors of the State." Sec. 21, Art. 4, provides that a clerk of the Superior Court for each county, "shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof." Sec. 26, Art. 4, provides that the Justices of the Supreme and Superior Courts "shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State," and so in regard to all the other officers of the State. Wherever a particular mode of elec-tion was intended, it was plainly and in direct terms, as in these examples, provided for in the constitution. If therefore, this amendment had intended any one mode of election, it would have so declared in the like express terms. As it did not so declare, who is to decide, but the Legislative body upon which the whole power is conferred?

The Constitution provides but two modes of election for all public offi-cers, one by the people and the other by the Legislature. It certainly was not intended that the people should elect the Trustees of the University. A proposition to elect sixty-four Trustees by the people at large would be absurd. It would be more reasonable thus to elect directors of railroads, and the penal and charitable institutions of the State. The only other mode of election is by the Legislature, or as it may, as in this case, prescribe. The amendment opened wo courses to that body, either to devolve the election on some other body, selected for the purpose, or to exercise the power itself. It wisely chose the latter course. A constitutional body of gentlemen, from every county in the State, chosen by the people for their supposed fitness, assembled together for deliberation and the enactment of laws for the and the enactment of laws for the public welfare, is the most eminently fit to choose as trustees those who are worthy and disposed to discharge the gratuitous duties of the office.

The Constitution of the United States has a provision very similar to the amendment we are now con-

"Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, electors," etc. The con-truction of this clause of the Federal upon the Legislature the power to elect or to refer the election to the people. Commenting upon this provision of the Federal Constitution, Curtis uses this language:—"IP this place it was proposed that each State should appoint, in such manner as the Legislature might direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives in Congress to which the State tives in Congress to which the State might be entitled under the provi-sions of the Constitution already agreed upon. The advantages of this plan were that it referred the mode plan were that it referred the mode of appointing the electors to the States themselves, so that they could adopt a popular election, or a election by the Legislature, as they might prefer," Hist. of the Const., Vol. 2, 389. To the same effect is Story: "It is observable that the language of the Constitution is, that "each State shall appoint in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct," the number of electors to which the State is entitled. Under this authority the entitled. Under this authority the appointment of electors has been variously provided for by the State Legislatures. In some States the Legislatures.

> electors by themselves; in others they have been chosen by the people by a general ticket, throughout the whole State; and in others by the people in electoral districts fixed by the Legislature of contracts. lature, a certain number of electors being apportioned to each district. No question has ever arises as to the constitutionality of either mode, except that of a direct choice by the Legisature.
> "But this, though often doubted by able and ingenious minds, has been firmly established in practice, ever since the adoption of the constitu-tion, and does not now seem to admit of controversy, even if a suitable tribunal existed to adjudicate upon it. At presont, in nearly all the States, the electors are chosen either by the people by a general ticket, or by the State Legislature." Com. on Const., vol. 3, sec. 1466. So that al-though there has been some diversity

gislatures have directly chosen ten

We conclude, therefore, both from reason and authority, that the Legislature in electing Trustees of the University, only exercised a power conferred upon them by the consti-

of opinion, the construction of this provision of the constitution has been finally settled in favor of the

Mr. Waring, from the Joint Select Committee of Conference on the Public Debt, submitted the following report:
Pursuant to the joint resolution of the two Houses of the General As-sembly, the "Joint Select Committee on the State Debt and Liabilities' met in the Senate Chamber at 12 m. on the 14th of January inst., to confer with the creditors of the State, and remained in session during that and the two days following.

During this time, gentlemen were present from New York, Virginia, and North Carolina, representing in the aggregate about two millions of the "old" and "funded interest" bonds, with less amount of "new" and "special tax" bonds. Numerous letters, addressed to the Governor, the Chairman and members of the Committee, from persons in various sections of the country, owners of different classes of bonds of this State, were read and considered. Several propositions were made by condholders looking to a settlement

Carolina very generally said that they had entire confidence in the judgment and fairness of the Legislature and would accept such terms as it might propose. One of the Virginia gentlemen expressed his willingness to accept any terms of settlement which might be offered by this Gen-eral Assembly. The other Virginia creditors present, representing over half a million of dollars of the "old" bonds, and professing to be able to influence a very large amount of the entire debt, proposed to surrender the "old" bonds and the "funded interest" bonds with the accumulated interest on them, and take in lieu there-of a new bond for the face of the others, bearing 4 per cent. interest for 5 years and then 6 per cent. for the remainder of the term.

The chief representative for the New York interest proposed that the "old" bonds, "funded interest" bonds and the acquired interest on the same, be taken up with a new bond at fifty cents in the dollar. That the "new" bonds, not "special tax," be taken at thirty cents in a like bond, and that the "Special Tax" be discharged by the same new bone at fifteen cents in the dollar. He said, however, that he did not bepay any portion of these "special tax" bonds, but that in order to get rid of them would advise such compromise as suggested.

regard to the settlement of the "Construction" bonds. One holder of half million of these securities was willing to take a new five per cent. bond in exchange, if interest was secured. Another representative of half million of these last named bonds was content with his present position, but both were willing to take stock in the North Carolina Railroad Company in exchange for these bonds, at pair. Attorneys for these holders of the 'Construction' bonds presented a bill which they had prepared embodying and elaborating the proposition to issue new five per cent. bonds in ex-change for the "Construction" bonds of the North Carolina Railroad.

sidering the different propositions and deem it proper to report progress in order that the General Assembly may be in possession of all the infor-mation elicited by the Conference, and hope to make a full and final report at an early day. All of which is respectfully submitted.

A Southern journal calls the weather they are having in that section "another Northern aggression."

THE Memphis Appeal, in referring to the late " peace offering " message of President Grant in reference to Louisiana, styles it "a message that is a disgrace to the country which Grant disgraces as a twaddling and speculating Chiefmagistrate."

It is a hopeful indication of the change for the better in public sentiment, that Harper's Weekly, which has been heretofore a most uncompromising organ of the administration, sharply criticizes and condemns the use of the military to disperse the Legislature of Louisiana. Mr. Curtis is plain spoken in the expression of his disapproval, and warns the President that such high-handed usurpations will only tend to the disruption of the Republican party.

SPEAKER WILTZ, of the Louisiana Legislature, after the appearance of the late message of the President touching upon late events in that State, telegraphed that functionary that, inasmuch as the military interference in the Legislative halls of that State on the 4th inst. was unauthorized by him, he (Wiltz) demanded that the President direct the military to restore the statu quo existing at the time Gen. De Trobriand interposed with the proceedings of the body over which he was presiding, in order that the House of Representatives might proceed in the discharge of its duties without molestation. The President's optics were too dull to see any point in this dispatch, and did not comply with the request of Speaker Wiltz.

One of the most powerful rebukes we have seen, of the President's nsurpation and tyranny in Louisiana, emanates from Governor Taylor, the Republican Executive of Wisconsin. We quote the following pregnant extract from the message of Governor Taylor to the Wisconsin Legislature: "I do not wish to prejudge facts, but if authority exists in any branch of the Federal Government for what appears to be assumed by the recent proceedings in the State of Louisiana, and in the extraordinary proposals of the Lieutenant-General of the Army in his dispatch from New Orleans, I believe the time has come for all of us to bury partisan spirit in a common effort for the preservation of our Constitutional sovereignty and the inherited liberties of the American people."

In a recent number of The Children's Friend, published in Oxford in the interest of the Oxford Asylum, the Superintendent called upon the Legislature "to pass a law preventing white children from being bound to negroes." We did not at the time notice this call, as we knew nothing of the facts justifying it. The Petersburg (Va.) Index asked if it were possible that such a thing was allowed in this State, to which The Children's Friend replies :

Visit the Orphan Asylum at Oxford, and you will see a number of children who have been rescued from ondage to degraded negroes. Go with the Superintendent and he will show you others whom he has not yet been ble to relieve, and for whose benefit he now makes a just and reasonable appeal to the Legislature. That these things are possible and actual can not be denied, because the sad and shameful is ever before us. But why have to the interest of the Orphans? Alas we connot tell. The members are of age; let them answer for themselves Why, we ask also, are our State papers so silent on the subject? We have personally requested many editors to call public attention to these outrages on helpless children. Le them rise before the people and explain for what reason our requests have been disregarded. We welcome our manly neighbor of Virginia among the children's friends. Let us fight those modern Herods who for one political purpose are willing to crush out thousands of poor and help-

These facts call for the immediate and positive investigation of the Legislature, for with the Index we are constrained to ask "can such things exist in our midst?" We, too, are friends of the orphans, wherever found, and will earnestly endeavor to further their interest.

Louisiana report:

"The report of the sub-committee on Southern Affairs in Louisiana is a terrible blow to the Administration and to the carpet-baggers and scala-wags. The more it is read the greater the wonder that it should ever have been permitted to see the light. And all statements to the contrary notwithstanding it is an undoubted fact that it was not made public until all possible means had been resorted to for its suppression. Now all that the Radicals can do is to attempt to throw discredit upon it, an undertaking in which they are not likely bring in another report, such as Kellogg may dictate. The latter duty logg may dictate. may devolve on Messrs. George F. Hoar, Frye and Wheeler, who, in compliance with the demand of Kellogg, will leave for New Orleans at early day. Kellogg and Packard are lready preparing the evidence and picking out the swift witnesses, upon whose testimony their report will be based. It is fortunate for the reputations of Messrs. Foster and Phelps that they went to New Orleans when they did, and made such a report as is now before the people."

AGAIN has Sheridan discovered cause to denounce the people of Louisiana as "bandittis." This time he has discovered that the white citizens of the State are not employing this year the negroes who did not vote with them last year, and that in consequence the poor negro is starving. Had not the Federal authorities better distribute some of that vast amount of bacon and other provisions we saw distributed last summer by the Radical politicians "to those who had suffered by the overflow," and this in sections (to all intents and purposes) a thousand miles away from any stream? And as this was done at the expense of the Government to secure Radical elections, could not a point be stretched and these (imaginary) starving "loyal" citizens given a little help? Let Congressmen White and Pelham from Alabama speak out on this subject.

THE meeting of the State Executive Committee of the Democratic-Conservative party, together with many other leading men of the State and the members of the Democratic press, which is to be held in this city to day in connection with the Democratic members of the Legislature, is one of much importance and will, we trust, be largely attended. That the deliberations of this body will have great effect upon the question of Convention now agitating the public mind cannot be denied, and we hope to see this question discussed with an eye solely to the best interests of the State of North Carolina. Let the Legislature have a full and fair expression from every portion of the State, and we trust this expression will decide them to act at once in this matter. We cannot but believe that the voice of the people is for a convention, and if this be so, then let the Legislature call a convention without fear or hindrance.

REPORT OF THE NEW OR-LEANS COMMITTEE.

The report of the New Orleans Committee (Messrs. Foster, Phelps and Potter,) was submitted to the U. S. House of Representatives last Friday. The action of the Returning Board by this report is pronounced arbitrary, illegal and unjust. The report is a complete vindication of the people of Louisiana from the "banditti" charges of General Sheridan. We make the following extracts from it:

"Without now referring to other instances, we are constrained to de-clare that the action of the returning board, on the wnole, was ARBITRARY, UNJUST AND, IN OU OPINION, ILLEGAL, and that this arbitrary, unjust and illegal action alone prevented the re-Conservative members of the Lower

Upon the general subject of the state of affairs in the South, and as to whether the alleged wrongs to col-ored citizens for political offences are real or were asserted without due foundation, your committee took such proofas the opportunity offered. Both parties agreed upon four par-ishes as samples of the condition of affairs in that respect in the State. Of these, owing to the impossibility of procuring witnesses from the locality in time, your committee were obliged to confine their especial examination to two parishes most accessible. As to these parishes, they received all the testimony that was offered, and in addition they received all the testimony that was then on hand in New Orleans, offered by either party, as to the condition of affairs in other parts of the State.

As a whole, they are constrained to say that the intention charged is not orne out by the facts before us. general intimidation of Republican voters was established; no colored man was produced who had been threatened or assaulted by any Conservative because of political opinion, or discharged from employment or refused employment. Of all those who testified to intimidation there were hardly any one who of his own knowledge could specify a reliable instance of such acts; and of the white men who were produced to testify generally on such subjects, very nearly all, if not every single one, was the holder of an office.

THE GENERAL CONDITION OF AFFAIRS in the State of Louisiana seems to be ns follows: The conviction has been general among the whites since 1872, that the Kellogg government was an usurpation. This conviction among them has been strengthened by the acts of the Kellogg Legislature abolishing existing courts and judges and substituting others presided over by judges appointed by Kellogg, having extraordinary and exclusive jurisdiction over realities. tion over political questions; by enter upon it during the term for

A Washington special says of the changes in the laws centralizing in the Governor every form of political control, including the suspension of the elections; by continuing the returning board with absolute power over the returns of elections; by the extraordinary provisions enacted for the trial of titles and claims to office: by the conversion of the police force maintained at the expense of the city of New Orleans into an armed brigade of State militia, subject to the command of the Governor; by the creation in some places of monopolies in markets, gas-making, water-works and ferries, cleaning vaults, removing filth and doing work as wharfingers by the abolition of courts with election judges and the substituother courts with judges appointed by Kellogg, in eva-sion of the constitution of the State; by enactments punishing criminally all persons who attempted to fill official positions unless returned by the returning board; by unlimited appropriations for the payment islative warrants, vouchers and checks issued during the years 1870 to 1872; by laws declaring that no person in arrears for taxes, after default published, shall bring any suit in any court of the State, or be allowed to be a witness in his own be -measures which, when coupled with the extraordinary burdens taxation, have seemed to vest, in the language of Governor Kellogg's counsel, "a degree of power in the lovernor of a State scarcely exercised by any sovereign in the world."
With this conviction is a general want of confidence in the integrity of the existing State and local officials; a want of confidence equally in their purposes and in their personnel, which is accompanied by the para-lyzation of business and destruction of values. The most hopeful witness produced by the Kellogg party, while he declared that business was in a

> An effort was made by the Conservatives to acquire a part of THE NEGRO VOTE. With that it was sought in many quarters, to propitiate them. Frequent arrests by the United States marshals for intimidation or threats of non-employment, and the apprehension that was feit that the returning board would count out their men, if excuse for such a course was offered, all combined, especially after the 14th of September, to put the Conservatives on their good behavior, and the result was, that in November, 1874, the people of the State of Louisiana did fairly have a free, peaceable, and full registration and election, in which a clear Conservative majority was elected to the Lower House of the Legislature, of which majority the Conservatives were deprived by the unjust, illegal,

because there was less credit, has since declared that "there was no and arbitrary action of the returning That there were turbulent spirits cannot be denied. Those returned to office by the returning board in violation of the wishes of the people are especially odious. In one instance the editor of the Shreveport News, in anticipation of the frustration by the returning board of the will of the people, openly declared that the only remedy was "to kill the usurpers," and declared this to be the sentiments of the Conservatives of his section of the State. But beyond a newspaper editor or two no declaration even of that sort was brought to our own notice, although it was admitted on all hands the white people of the whole State felt greatly outraged by the action of the returning board. Indeed, it is conceded by all parties that the Kellogg government is only upheld by the military, and that government will go down. This was true before the 4th of January as well as now. Governor Kellogg says this is owing to the doubt that Congress has permit-ted about the legality of this government. The Conservatives say that this is not only because his government is illegal, but because has been aroused and corrupt. In this connection we refer to

THE WHITE LEAGUE mentioned in the message of the President. In the last campaign in Louisiana, the opposition was posed of various elements-Democrats, Reformers, dissatisfied Repubicans, Liberal Republican, Whigs-and, in order to induce the co-operation of all, some of whom refused to unite with an organization Democratic, they took the name of the "People's Party"-called n some localities the "Conservative Party;" in others the "White Man's Party;" in others the "White League"—and had ordinary political clubs under these names throughout the rural districts, which were ordinary political clubs and nothing more: neither secret nor armed nor otherwise different from usual political organizations. These must not, however, be confounded, from similarity of names, with the White Leagues of the city of New Orleans. That League is an organization composed of different clubs, numbering in all between 2,500 and 2,800, th members of which have provided arms for themselves, and with or without arms engage in military drill. They have no uniform, and the arms are the property of individuals, not of the organization. They compromise a large number of reputable citizens and propertyholders in Louisiana. Their purs pose they declare to be simply protective—a necessity occasioned by the existence of leagues among the blacks; of the hostility with which the Kellogg government arrayed the black against the white race; of the want of security to peaceable citizens and their families, which existed for those reasons, and because, also, of the peculiar formation of the police

Indeed, in our judgment, the substantial citizens of the State will

SUBMIT TO ANY FAIR DETERMINA-TION OF THE QUESTION of the late elections, or to anything by which they can secure a firm and od government. What they seek s peace and an opportunity for prosperity, and to that end they support any form of government that will afford them just protection. In this distress they have got beyond any mere question of political party. After your committee had an-nounced their intention not to invesigate the election of 1872 they re ceived a letter from Governor Kelogg, expressing a desire that they should investigate that subject. Later they received a letter from McEnery, Penn and associates, proposing to submit their claims to the State offices to the committee as arbitrators. In view of the assurance that a like on was desired on the part of Messrs. Kellogg and Antoine and their associates, the committee addressed a letter to each of these gentlemen, desiring to know explicitly the determination of the committee elected he would resign his office or all claim to the office, and would not received a reply from Mr. McEnery and those associated with him asand those associated with him as-senting to the submission, and in the course of his examination before the committee Governor Kellogg ex-pressed the same intention and his pinion that those associated with him ought to consent to the arrangement. His formal reply has been received since our return, and we see by the public press that Mr. Antoine has expressed his willingness to accede to the arrangement.

ORGANIZATION OF THE LEGISLA-TURE. The report of the committee on the organization of the Louisians

Legislature on the 4th inst., is sulstantially the same as that given by the Conservative members of The committee conclude their report by stating that they "have not been able to agree upon any recom-mendation, but upon the situation in Louisiana as it appeared before them they are all agreed."

REGULARITY BRINGS VIGOR.— Local irregularities produce weakness of the entire system. In order, therefore, to re-establish health and strength upon a sure basis, these irregularities must be permanetly overcome. Many persons endeavor to reform them by remedies which address themselves merely to the symptoms without affecting the cause. If such individuals were to use instead Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, they would spedily appreciate the difference between a medicine which palhates, and one which entirely removes physical disability. That prime, regulator of bodily disturbances realore the derelict organs to an uninterrupted and healthy performance of their various duties, whereby aloue the system can recover its lost tone and vigor. Hestetter's Bi ters are a tonic medicine, but they are a tonic which regulates ere they strengthen the system.

is no new or untried manure. It has been before the public for upwards of ten years, during which time it has been steadily growing in reputation, until it is now universally recognized as one of the most uniformly reliable concentrated fertilizers in the market. It is manufactured from the best and purest raw materials, every one of which is subjected to chemical analysis before being used. The purity of the fertilizer is thus assured. In addition to this, every step of its manufacture is conducted under the strictest chemical supervision, so that farmers are thus guarded at every point from any danger of using an inferior article. Farmers of North Carolina.

SEG YELVE

GENTLEMEN—Two years ago, at the request of a number of the leading planters of your State, I endeavored to form what was then known as the North Carolina Fertilizer Company. The main object (on your part) in engaging in the enterprise was the reduction of the then prevailing high prices for fertilizers by forming a Farmers' Manufacturing Company, and said Company being owned and controlled by you, thereby be enabled to obtain a certain amount of the preduction at cost price. After spending some three months in thoroughly canvassing those sections of the State in which fertilizers were largely used, a subscription to the stock was obtained, of which we have no cause to be ashamed. Unfortunately, when we may for organization, the false reports, dc., of those who were interested in preventing its formation pre-alied, and the enterprise was abandoned. I was afterwards frequently solicited to start once more, and many offers and pledges made, but I have refused, being fully convinced of failure. Although I have refused to attempt there-formation of said company, yet I have single-handed carried on the fight we jointly began for lew prices, being fully convinced that the true policy of the dealer is large sales and reasonable profits.

In introducing Guanahani Guano last year, consistancy to this policy was shown, although the chemical endorsement from the highest authority in the land entitled the Company to charge a much higher price than the $40 per ton at which it was placed on the market.

It was expected that this fight for low prices would raise great opposition from parties interested in preventing the same, but hardly that it would be carried on with such a bitter spirit as witnessed during the past year. I desire no better vindication than the certificates contained in the circular of that Company, showing as they do more general satisfaction to the planting public than any fertilizer that has ever come under my observation. satisfaction to the planting public than any fertilizer that has ever come under my observation.

That a high standard of knowledge in regard to agricultural chemistry does not exist among the farming public, there is no doubt; in fact, all admit it; but while regretting the same, hope for better days to come.

The above being true, we must expect to find opposition to new ideas, until the time when practical demonstration of the plantation shall drive out the existing prejudice for cld things.

Such a prejudice existed last year in regard to Guanahani Guano. Many did not even grant it a small trial or test, from the fact that it did not emit the odor by which they have been in the habit of judging of the good qualities of a fertilizer. But few are aware that forms of nitrogen or ammonia, other than a volatile condition, exist, and that two, or three of said other forms are, for many reasons, more valuable for agricultural purposes than even the saits of ammonia in Peruvian Guano.

Again: but few are aware that phosphoric acid or phosphate of lime exist in a natural guano in different forms from those contained in manufactured fertilizers. The farming public have been left entirely in the dark as regards neutral phosphoric acid, pronounced by all chemists, and estimated in all tables of agricultural value of such ingredien s, to be worth the same as the soluble phosphoric acid of the manufactured article.

Such prejudices asthese operated more against the introduct on of Guanahani Gua-article.

Such prejudices as these operated more against the introduct on of Guanahani Guano than all others.
In order to eradicate these faise ideas or prejudices. I appeal to that almost infallible verdict that comes from the plantation test, and refer you to the certificates contained in the circular named.
These certificates are from different sections of the States of North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland, where Guanahani was used during the past year.
In North Carolina they will be bound, on examination, to extend from Gatesville in the East to Charlotte in the West and from the first agriculturists of the different sections. The ludgment in these cases has not been made on account of a fine growth of weed or stalk, but from final results—as shown by the an ount of grain or seed cotton—and I know of no better mode of judging than "By their finits ye shall know them,"

With respect, yours truly,

WM R. GRIFFITH

Congressional - The Tariff Bill ongressional — The Tarin Bill
The Pacific Mail Bribers Creating a Storm Among Politicians—Whose Fingers are Burnt—What is to be Done Towards Improving the Levees of the Mississippi.

WASHINGTON, January 19.—In the Senate Alcorn presented the resolutions of the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry of Mississippi, in favor of making Pascagoula a port of entry and for the improvement of that harbor. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

The Legislative, Judicial and Executive appropriation bill was consid, and the Senate by a vote of 29 to 21, refused to concur in the amendment of the Committee providing for the organization of a Bureau of Commerce and Statistics. The present Bureau of Statistics, however, continued and twenty thousand dollars was appropriated to carry it on.

Sherman, from the Conference Committee on the Little tariff bill made a report substantially the same as that of last session, with the exception of the duty on hops, which was fixed at eight cents per pound. The two sections relating to tobacco and the sale of bonds, which were the principal subjects of the disagreement ast year, were stricken out by the Conference Committee, and the report was agreed to by the Senate. Wright, from the Judiciary Committee, reported with amendments House bill for the owners and purchasers of lands sold for direct taxes in the insurrectionary states and for other purposes. Placed on Calendar. Confirmations—Rollins, Post-master, West Virginia; Brink, Wil-

House-Explanations and denials by members of newspaper reports, connecting their names with the Pacific Mail subsidy, occupied a good deal of to-day's session.

First came Storm, of Pennsylvania, who, although he had steadily voted and spoken against the subsi-dy, was alluded to as the recipient of of those thousand dollar bills, which were said to have been floating around at that time.

Then followed Chittenden, of New York, who had been confounded by some newspapers with a person of the same patronymic, to whom Abert had paid several thousand dol-Then followed Gypher, of Louis-iana, who defended his vote for the subsidy, but denied indignantly that he had been influenced by corrup motives. Then telegrams were read from

Daniel W. Voorhees, of Indiana, and Boyd Winchester, of Kentucky, denouncing newspaper stories, connec-ting their names with the subsidy and asking to be summoned as wit-

Then a Special Committee was appointed to inquire whether the privileges of the House have been d in the arrest and detention of Whitelaw Reid, editor of the New York Tribune, at the suit of Alex. R. Shepherd while in this city as a witness before the Committee on Ways | unknown.

the Pacific Mail investigation, Chas. A. Wetmore, Washington correspondent of the Alta, California, was brought before the House for refusing to state the name of a person, who had meutioned something to him derogatory to the character of Beck, of Kentucky.

These various incidents of the Pacific Mail investigation, with a couple of hours given to the Indian appro-priation bill, filled up the whole of to-day's session.

The Cabinet to-day perfected the Canadian postal treaty, which will be immediately sent to Canada for signatures by the postal authorities

Whitelaw Reid appeared before the Police Court to-day, and gave bail to answer the charges of libel brought by Ex-Governor Shepherd. Both Housed adjourned until tomorrew.

The Senators and Representatives from the States of Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi met last night at the room of the Collector, Cassey, to consult concerning the levees. The meeting resulted in the appointment of a committee composed of Messrs. Alcorn, McKee, Sheldon, Morey, Hodges and Snyder, who are to call upon the President and ask his suport in procuring an appropriation in accordance with the recommendation of the Commission of Engineers. The committee called upon the President this morning, and had a somewhat lengthy interview. Senator Alcorn presented the subject by describing the condition of the districts liable to overflow, and the utter inability of the people to protect themselves by repairing the broken levees, and by showing the value of this alluvial section to the nation at large.

The President said he had always desired to aid in promoting the hap-piness and prosperity of all the peo-ple of the South, but at times he felt that the acts of violence so constantly occurring would preclude, any aid from the general government.

Mr. Sheldon suggested that it was impossible for the people of the State of Louisiana to repair the levees broken by the flood of last year, that the section of county along the river had always been peaceable, that the colored people largely predominated, and that the people who were disposed to commit acts of violence constituted a very small minority, and that the whole should not be held responsible, and made to suffer for the acts of a small portion. He said further that the impovershed condition of the people was one cause of had feeling and violent ac tion; that if the vigorous use of power was required to preserve order and protect life, to do acts of benificence would have a mollifying effect.

The President said his remark were not intended so much to indicate his own feelings, as to sugges what the Committee might have to meet in the feelings of Congress. He had not seen the report, but when it came he would consider the subject and decide what he would do

After remarks from other gentlenen and the President the Committee took their departure, feeling that the President would recommend favorable action on the part of Con-

Weather Probabilities.

This well established Company was or-anized in 1869 It has i-sued about 5000 policies, and has paid in death claims more than $300,000. Its RESERVE secured more than $30,000. Its RESERVE secured for policy-holders, last July amounted to $400,000; leaving a surplus of $212,000. Public attention is called to the fact that for every $100 of itabilities, it has $142 of assets. This unparallelled success -hould commend it to the people of his State. Resides, it has deposited 150,000 for the exclusive benefit of policy-holders; and it now proposes to establish a local B-ard, and make loans on real estate -security. It takes insurance on all the approved plans, with but few if any restrictions. GOOD AGENTS WANTED.
